Elk Point volunteers 152,915 hours

Elk Point residents volunteered a minimum of 152,915 hours in the past year, and are still hard at it, if the small crowd at Sunday evening's Volunteer Week Kickoff was any indication.

However, MP Deborah Grey, who addressed the gathering,, said that although the number was not large, they were a committed group who "came out and paid attention, even though there is so much going on." She was "astounded by the total number of hours. If we paid those volunteers even minimum wage, it would amount to $764,600." If this were done all across Canada, she said, "it would soon pay off the national debt." Ms Grey regrets having to give up her own volunteer work, with such groups as the Camp Whitney Board, due to her heavy workload and weekly commute to Ottawa, but is "thankful for those who have taken over and taken up the slack."

Mayor Ed Buck said this is "special week where volunteers volunteer to honor volunteers." He described volunteers as those who miss supper to work at bingos, put up with poor attendance and no profit, cook hamburgers at ball diamonds, and who are criticized by people who don't volunteer. "Activities in Elk Point would be non-existent without without volunteers. The Town of Elk Point thanks all of you for your efforts."

you're someone we appreciate !

Mistress of Ceremonies Diane Wolanuk said the Volunteer Week Steering Committee had been fun to work with. Volunteer Week Coordinator Daphne Schnurer agreed, and thanked the Wild Rose Foundation for the funding they had provided, and the volunteers present for attending the kickoff.

Edmonton's Fab Two Theatre, one of Canada's premiere comedy groups, was in attendance with a fast-paced, hard-hitting "Fairy Tale Theatre" centering on Little Red Volunteer Hood, a high school student who makes time daily to deliver lunch to the elderly Mrs. G. With summer holidays approaching, Little Red is worried about who will take her place to deliver the meals. Vinnie the Wolf, an arrogant but phoney carnivore, thinks volunteering is a waste of time, despite Little Red's explanations about how good it makes you feel, and that "it's just plain dumb to work for free."

REX A B-I-G HIT - Tyrannasaurus Rex, the 24 foot star of the Greatest Show Unearthed display at Elk Point Agricultural Society Trade Fair, drew lots of attention this weekend from kids of all ages. The display was jointly sponsored by several oil companies.

Trade fair a roaring success

Elk Point's A.G.Ross Arena was the place to be this weekend, with close to sixty exhibitors and feature displays to entertain viewers of all ages. Whether you wanted to check out the latest boats and all terrain vehicles, find out more about diet or home safety products, or look into plans, building products or landscaping plants for spring, there was a display with you in mind. From furry friends to pet to a spin in space, from library information to sports cards, it was at the Elk Point Agricultural Society Trade Fair this past weekend.

Rex, the 24 foot giant dinosaur, dwarfed the balance of the World Dinosaur Tour display, which had plenty of information on the Greatest Show Unearthed, which premieres in Edmonton from May 14 to July 25. The display, and accompanying draw for 25 pairs of tickets to the event, were sponsored by several oil companies in the area.

A very popular addition to the Trade Fair this year was the Antique Photo Parlor, which did a roaring business turning out likenesses of families, groups of friends, and even the Trade Fair Committee, dressed in the garb of years gone by as unique keepsakes, complete with period-styled frames.

Elk Point Lions Club and the RCMP also had a very busy booth, where they fingerprinted youngsters on personalized identification cards which the parents can keep on hand in case of a lost or kidnapped child.

Elk Point Municipal Hospital was just a booth or two down, with knowledgeable staffers and board members on hand to display the model of the new addition now getting underway, and to show off a palliative care bed of the kind the hospital is hoping to raise funds for, as part of special furnishings for a room for the terminally ill.

Progressive Conservative nomination hopefuls Al Poirier and John Trefanenko were both on hand for the show, considering this an ideal spot to meet the people who could be their future constituents.

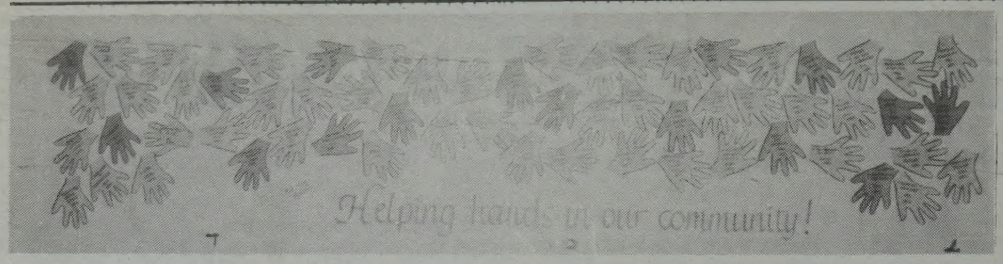
Rural input wanted

Interested members of the rural community are invited to join town business persons at tomorrow's Chamber of Commerce meeting to give their input on planning for an agriculture related business promotion. The Chamber would like to salute the agricultural community, while at the same time involving both industrial and downtown businesses in an event. A brainstorming session to consider various formats and ideas is planned as part of tomorrow's meeting.

The meeting is scheduled for noon tomorrow in the lounge of the Hilltop Cafe.



MANY HANDS MAKE LIGHT WORK - Each hand on this banner bears the name of an organization in Elk Point and the number of volunteer hours put in by that group in the past year.

Volunteer Week underway

Enter Goldie Locksberg, super volunteer, who has worked everywhere, man. She makes Vinnie tired just to look at her. Little Red and the narrator tell Vinnie once again why people volunteer, and after Little Red has trotted off to Mrs. G's, the wolf gets a bit choked up, which is quite out of character for a tough, lone wolf. However, he still won't go along to Mrs. G's without further coaxing by the narrator. When he sees Little Red at work, he confesses to being a sheep in wolf's clothing, and offers to take over for the young lady during her vacation. Mrs. G wonders if he has distemper, and asks for one good reason why he's willing to do this. The reason, which surprises even Vinnie, is that he WANTS TO. The moral of this fairy tale is, not a. all surprisingly, that the world is a better place with volunteers.

The final spot on Sunday's program was reserved for dynamic and very entertaining speaker Jon-Lee Kootnekoff. (That's spelled J-for-joyous, O-for-outstanding, N-for-needed-nuttiness, dash, L-for-lively, E-for-enthusiastic, E-for-energizing.) Kootnekoff appeared thanks to a grant jointly received by the Towns of Elk Point and St. Paul and the County of St. Paul, and was introduced by County FCSS Director Linette Newby.

The educator, writer and basketball enthusiast provided an uplifting verbal pat on the back for every person in attendance, and urged everyone to give themselves a hug and plenty of verbal affirmation every day. While acknowledging the extreme importance of volunteers to their community and to Canada, he urged volunteers to take care of their own needs and those of their family first, and "don't get hooked on fixing up the world. You can't change the world, you can only change the person sitting in your chair." Too many volunteers burn out, become martyrs or co-dependent, and communities are "killing people by working them too hard."

Kootnekoff urged everyone to "love yourself and others unconditionally. God doesn't make junk." He noted that one cannot love others until they love themselves first, and that they should learn to accept compliments and recognize their own accomplishments. Volunteers should seek help when they need it, rather than thinking of others first and denying their own needs.

"You people do make a difference," Kootnekoff concluded. "Now make a difference in your own life. Thanks for being my friends."

GET A LIFE -- VOUNTEER! - That's basically the message being conveyed to Vinnie the Wolf (centre) by the storyteller and Little Red Volunteer Hood in Fab Two's comedy production.

COACHES KEY INFLUENCE

It is really important for coaches to realize that they have a tremendous amount of influence over children. Coaches must learn to be a really good role model. Your job is to produce good athletes, but more importantly, good people.

FAIR PLAY:

- respecting the rules
- respecting evaluators and accepting their decisions
- maintaining dignity under all circumstances

These principkes apply in all situations, and they apply to everyone (coaches, parents, athletes, evaluators and spectators).

As a coach, fair play should be:

- behave the way you want your athletes and spectators to behave
- respect both the letter and the spirit of the sport
- help your athlete understand the reasons for rules and appreciate the job that evaluators do
- teach your athletes to value other athletes, because without them there would not be a competition
- teach your athletes to lose with dignity
- emphasize that doing one's best is more important than winning
- help each of your athletes equally
- keep fun in the sport

Summary: The athletic skills your athlete learns from you may be used only for a few years. The attitudes they develop toward themselves and others will last forever.

Editorial

VOLUNTEER WEEK DECLARED - Mayor Ed Buck was pleased to sign the proclamation presented by Volunteer Week Coordinator Daphne Schnurer at last Tuesday's Council meeting, and said he is very much aware of the many good works done by volunteers in the community.

Volunteers are...

April 18 to 24 is Volunteer Week, seven days set aside for us to recognize the efforts of those who serve their community and its residents virtually every day of the year, without payment and often without thanks.

What is a volunteer? Why, volunteers are...

VALUABLE: Just think what it would cost for all the hours of person-power exerted by volunteers over a year, even at the minimum wage. It really adds up, and the community is much richer for it.

OUTGOING: They're so outgoing, some of them are hardly ever home! But seriously, folks, these are people who enjoy getting out there and meeting people and doing what they can to help the community.

LEGENDARY: The good works done by volunteer labor in this community are amazing, for the amount of work done, funds raised, projects accomplished. These are the things legends are made of.

UNASSUMING: It's very rare to see one of these volunteers blowing their own horn -- they're much more likely to be pointing out how much other people have accomplished.

NECESSARY: And that's putting it mildly. Without volunteers, there would be no bingos, no minor sports, no Trade Fair, no Santas Anonymous, no Girl Guides, no Canada Day celebrations, and a whole lot less donations.

TIRELESS: When a big project is completed, volunteers often say, ''Boy, am I beat. Never again.'' but next time sees them right back at it, working just as hard as ever to do their part.

ENTERPRISING: No task is to big or too arduous for volunteers, whether they're young 4-Hers cleaning winter's debris from highway ditches, or seniors making painstaking, tiny stitches in a quilt to cover a fire victim.

EXPERIENCED: If they aren't when they begin, they soon learn. Volunteers are willing to teach their skills to others, so that everyone can play a part in projects, and put their expertise to work.

RESOURCEFUL: Brainstorming for new ideas in volunteer groups brings about new ways to do old tasks, and ideas for new projects that will be helpful and enjoyable for the community.

SUPER: You bet they are! Not to mention wonderful, incredible, extraordinary, marvelous, amazing, remarkable and outstanding. What would we do without them?

Imaginary Rose

We want to send a bouquet... one big rose for every volunteer across Canada who donates the gift of time and skill.

One tiny symbol of how grateful we are to the people who help in hospitals, schools, community centres... who assist with environmental, cultural, and literacy groups ... who support those in need.

One rose each, for every one of Canada's thirteen million volunteers.

If you're a volunteer, this rose is for you.

Thanks!

BICENTENNIAL Receives award

The Bicentennial may be over, but it lives on in many hearts, including those of the Edmonton and District Historical Society, who presented the Bicentennial Society with their Award of Merit In History for an institution during their John Rowand Night and annual general meeting last Saturday.

Enid Symons of EDHS said the award honors groups or community for their efforts in preservation of history. The EDHS had visited Elk Point and the Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre on their field trip last year, bringing three busloads to take part in the Fall Rendezvous last September, so members were familiar with the Bicentennial when the nomination for the group was received. "We thought it was a good one." Ms Symons said the interest in the two fur trade forts has been growing for many years, and culminated last year in the Bicentennial and the opening of the Interpretive Centre. "History is a big commodity in that area of the province."

The award was presented to Bicentennial Coordinator Billie Milholland and Bicentennial Society Treasurer Adele Mandryk by EDHS Past President Katherine Jaster.

Billie Milholland was the evening's guest speaker, and told about the formation of the Bicentennial Society, inviting those with good ideas who were not afraid to take a chance to be a part of the planning process, and getting underway on fundraising activities, which included the Great Pumpkin Cookbook.

She told about establishing Peter Fidler as a folk hero, with a history "equally interesting as David Thompson and Alexander Mackenzie, and better adventures," and of spreading the story of Fidler and the fur trade into the schools and throughout the area.

Ms Milholland said that now the Bicentennial is finished, the Society is basically dormant, but that many of the participants are carrying on with their projects, such as Louis Verhagen's genealogy of the Fidler family, and a number of craft projects. She herself and Ms Mandryk are looking into small publishing projects to raise funds for larger publishing ventures.

Ms Milholland presented a copy of the final Bicentennial Report to new EDHS President Sean Moir, and announced plans for passing on the Bicentennial banner to the Factor of Fort Edmonton at a later date.

AWARD FOR BICENTENNIAL - Kathleen Jaster, Past President of the Edmonton and District Historical Society (left) presented the Award of Merit to Adele Mandryk and Billie Milholland of the Bicentennial Society for their efforts in preserving northeastern Alberta's fur trade history.

RETIRING PRESIDENT HONORED - Violet McFadyen was honored by her fellow Elk Point Red Cross members when she retired after 25 years as the group's president. Local Red Cross honors past president

Irene Magnusson

A busy morning, Monday, April 5, saw the local Red Cross ladies tie a quilt before 11 a.m. Set up in Modins' spacious basement, the cover was pieced and donated by Violet McFadyen, and goes to follow many emergency quilts created by the group for those in need.

A meeting, with new chairman Jean McGinnis, followed. Funds have been sent to headquarters; members signed up for the new term number 15; countless 'volunteer hours' have been reported (for Volunteer Week); and the March Canvass is well in hand. Exact figures are not ready, with a few canvassers not yet reporting in, however Canvass Chairman Margaret White has indicated that it went very well. Mrs. White will be attending a provincial Red Cross meeting later this month in Calgary.

It is hoped our next meeting will be again in the United Church Hall, with possibly two quilts set up. Violet Smith graciously donated a pieced top she had made. Violet McFadyen also offered another top she had created.

Preceeding the bag lunch, President Jean McGinnis presented Violet McFadyen with a beautifully decorated cake and appreciation card from all members, in acknowledgement of her 25 years as President of the Elk Point branch. She had also served as Campaign Chairman for 10 years, prior to Margaret White taking over four years ago.

The group appreciates the use of Modin's home, as they do the use of the United Church Hall, in past years. This organization continues working, over the years, in whatever ways they can, to alleviate the sufferings of their fellow man. The Red Cross thanks all who gave so generously to the recent March campaign for funds. Next meeting will be May 3.

... a huge success

The adventurous in the audience enjoyed rides in a mindboggling device called a Space Ball, which turned the patrons every which way but upright, at great speed. Truly an experience to remember!

A very popular corner was the Twinkle Toes Zoo, which had bunnies, puppies, baby and mama goats, a friendly donkey and a potbelly pig to pet, as well as baby chickens and ducks, fluffy angora rabbits, glossy black roosters and a gorgeously plumaged peacock on display, thanks to the kindness of their owners.

As well, there was entertainment to enjoy. Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club, local singer and songwriter Travis Pankiw and the Elk Point Skipping Club all drew crowds of spectators, as did demonstrations of dog obedience by local kennel owner Roberta Nielsen and her Bouvier des Flandres, Grizzly. A colorful show of the latest spring fashions was enjoyed Saturday afternoon, courtesy of Peggy Adomaitis and Leigh Morgan Fashions.

Sunday afternoon featured a Pet Parade, with rabbits, dogs, cats and goats showing off their tricks for an admiring crowd. Prizes donated by Bert and Roberta Nielsen were presented to all participants, along with ribbons and certificates.

A coloring contest featuring the friendly 24-foot star of the show, saw Chelsea Schnurer win the 5 And Under category, while Kali Cousins won the 6 to 9 year old group and Amanda Frisby the 10 to 12 year old competition. The entries made a colorful display in the arena lobby.

The Chicken Square Contest was back for a second year, with Ruby Yarmuch as Sunday's winner and E. Dymitriw of Two Hills picking Saturday's winning location.

Almost every booth had draws for prizes, and the final half hour of the show was filled with announcements of the winners. The Review distributed sheets to all booth holders, inviting them to list their winners and turn them in to the Review booth, but not all had been handed in to press time. Pan Candian Petroleum drew for a beautiful girls' bike, which was won by a very lucky Laci Jacobson. Cranberry Creek Tree Nursery gave a Colorado Spruce to Jean Russell, and perennials to Rosemary Vinge and Bryan Campbell. Crafts By Madelaine drew for a sewing basket, won by Michelle Anton. Livingstone Art and Gem's winner of a rose quartz frog carving was Heather Krissa.

Northern Lights Library System and Elk Point Public Library shared a booth, with NLLS giving a book to Peter Danyluk, while the Library had a basket of books and a library membership for Lisa Nielsen, who hopefully will have the leisure to enjoy them now her work on the Trade Fair is completed.

Watkins Products draw for a stove-top cooker was won by Harry Chubey. JT's Lunch Wagon drew for two Easter baskets, with Cheryl Smith and Mark Hoston the lucky winners, and a ceramic cowboy boot, which was won by Jean Russell.

The Review's draws were for a world globe, won by Chris de la Giroday, while a laser print t-shirt goes to Gabrielle Heal of Vermilion.

Any booth holder who forgot to turn in their list of winners may bring it to the Review if they wish to have their winners publicized.

The Ag Society also had a draw for a very handsome patio set, which was won by Travis Hymanyk of Elk Point.

2nd Annual Spring Classic Stampede

It's that time again! Time to pull on your boots and hat and enjoy the Elk Point Agricultural Society's 2nd Annual Spring Classic Stampede, May 8 and 9.

The Stampede will have a whole roster of events. This year we added a couple of local events including the "Businessman's Wild Cow Milking" and the "Local Junior Steer Riding." We are looking for entries for both events. Along with the local events, we have added the "SUICIDE RIDE," a must-see event that should provide plenty of exciting entertainment.

In promoting the sport of rodeo, our committee added the "Local Junior Steer Riding" for kids 10 to 14 years of age. We hope to make this a little more appealing for the kids that do not rodeo on a regular basis. Yearling steers will be used, a $10 jackpot fee will be charged and there is a prize for the winner. If entered in this event, you cannot enter ther "Junior Bull Riding" and vice versa.

Once again, the Les Trach Rodeo Company of St. Paul will be supplying the stock, and the Lakeland Rodeo Association, the contestants. Les is bringing his top line of stock, including Hot Chocolate - 9 times Bareback Horse of the Year; War Sam - 6 times Saddle Bronc of the Year; andHomer - a bull that has only been ridden twice in three years.

With our very learned and colorful rodeo commentators, Mr. Bernie Poitras and Mr. Emory Erickson, this will be a terrific show.

A new addition to the rodeo grounds will be the Pendleton Run.

There will be beer gardens on the grounds and dancing to the sounds of the George Stratford Band on Saturday night at the A.G.Ross Arena.

Once again we hope the businesses of Elk Point will join in the activities by decorating and dressing "western" for the week prior to the rodeo.

It is sure to be a great weekend in Elk Point. So start getting geared up and we'll see you all at the 2nd Annual Spring Classic Stampede, May 8 and 9 at the Elk Point Fair Grounds.

Council proclaims Volunteer Week

Mayor Ed Buck has proclaimed April 18 to 24 as Volunteer Week in Elk Point. Daphne Schnurer, Volunteer Week Coordinator, visited Council's April 13 meeting and presented the Mayor with a proclamation. She invited Council to take part in the various events of the week, and thanked them for volunteering their efforts as celebrity cooks for Thursday's Pancake Supper.

Another visitor to Council was Dave Yake of Elk Point Golf and Country Club, who presented an offer from the club to assume operation of the Recreation Park facilities, for Council's perusal. The Golf Club is prepared to take over maintainence of ball diamonds, campground and hiking trails to free up Public Works staff for in-town work.

Community Services Board's proposals of user fees and policies regarding both the Recreation Park and Community Services Centre were approved by Council. The 1992 user fees for the Community Services Centre and for slowpitch diamonds for leagues and tournaments were retained for a second year, with the addition of a clause that use of one diamond for one day will cost $50. Minor Ball user fees were increased from $5 per team for the year to $15. Rental for the TV/VCR stand was set at $5, and the overhead projector rental was set at $10 per use.

A larger sign will be made for the campground to outline the registration system, with the existing collection system to stay in place, and the picnic shelter will once again be available at no charge on a first come, first served basis.

The prioritization system for the ball diamonds was set as being first come, first served, with the first money paid confirming the booking, and if two simultaneous requests are received, Elk Point residents will be given priority.

Community Services was given the go-ahead to lease a new photocopier, since their previous one required very costly repairs.

Elk Point residents will once again be able to use "free water" on their lawns and gardens this summer. From May through August, the minimum water fee will cover the use of 20 cubic meters of water, rather than the 14 cubic meters for the rest of the year. It was agreed that the experiment of increasing the minimum for two months last year had been beneficial to residents and had been of minimum cost to the Town.

Two local properties will go up for auction July 7, due to unpaid taxes, unless payment is received in the meantime.

WHAT'S NEWS AT THE LIBRARY?

Thanks to our volunteers

LET'S CELEBRATE Volunteer Week

This week is Volunteer Week and the Elk Point Public Library Board and staff would like to express our feelings about how much our volunteers mean to us. In 1992, we had 1,077 volunteer hours. Here at the library, we really appreciate the many tasks our volunteers perform that help make the library run smoothly.

In 1992, the following fourteen volunteers were a real asset to the library: Elaine Bjorkman came every Monday night to give a helping hand at the front desk. Laurene Birkett came Thursday mornings to help. Gisele Farebrother was a big help in filing and shelving books. Yvonne Klein comes every Wednesday night to use her talents at the typewriter. Annie Klein gives a helping hand on Wednesday afternoon at the desk. Sandy Myshak faithfully delivers books to the Heritage Lodge every two weeks. Dianne Pelletier-Wygle came and gave her time to do the endless filing we have. Cheryl Kadutski comes in on occasional Saturdays to volunteer at the desk and other duties. Gail Kozicky delivered books to the hospital. Charlene Longpre came every Wednesday night to help our patrons at the desk, and Margaret Youngalso helped in taking books to Heritage Lodge and other duties within the library. Mary Lou McLeod comes Wednesday afternoons to put the many cards we have into the books.

Lena Stepa comes every Monday and Wednesday afternoon to serve the patrons and also helps us out on Fridays for the preschool storytime. Lena has been a volunteer for the past 30 years at Elk Point Library, a true volunteer, THANK YOU, Lena!

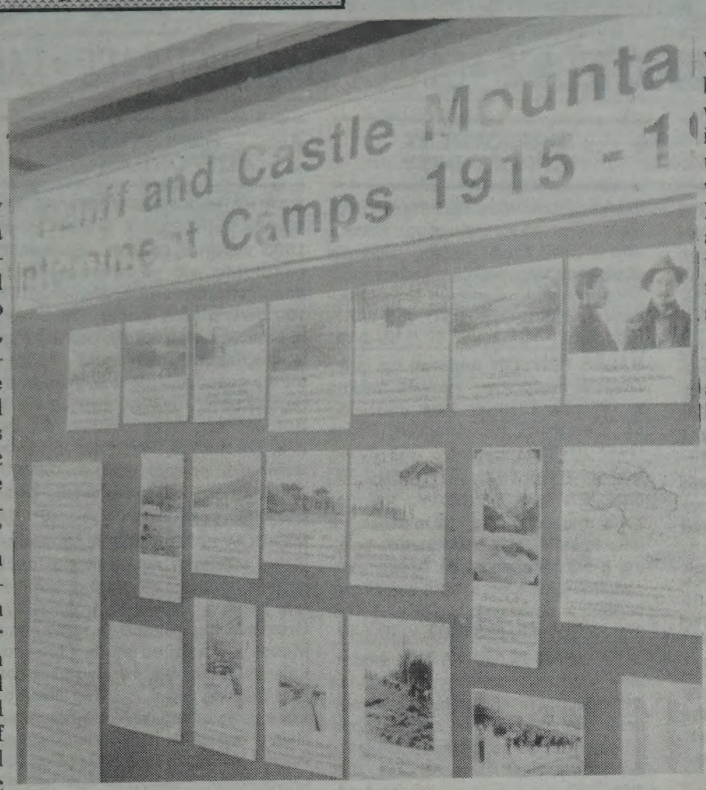
Anna May Warren is the lady who looks after clipping the old magazines for our vertical file and keeping the shelves in order. Thank you, Anna May, for your 20 years of service.

We would again like to give a big THANK YOU to all our wonderful volunteers of 1992.

NATIONAL VOLUNTEER WEEK
APRIL 18 TO 24, 1993

Writers' workshop

Northern Lights Library System will be sponsoring a Writers' Workshop in conjunction with the National Book Featival, April 24 to May 1, 1993. Merna Summers, a native of Mannville, Alberta, will be conducting the workshops. Her last published book, North of the Battle, is available in Elk Point Public Library. The title of the workshops will be "Recognizing the Stories In Your Life," and will focus on the ways in which writers can use material from their own lives in writing memoirs, fiction or poetry. In accordance with the guidelines of the National Book Festival, a book talk will take place at the beginning of the workshop. This event will be held in the Elk Point Public Library on Tuesday, April 27 between 7 and 10 p.m. Workshops are free and are open to all adults and senior high school students. Please phone the library at 724-3737 if you plan to attend.



GRIM REMINDER - Elk Point Public Library hosted a display of photos and text from the Banff and Castle Mountain Internment Camps 1914-1917 last week. It is a little known fact that during World War I, Canadian Internment Operations imprisoned more than 8000 individuals, 3000 of these classified as prisoners of war and the balance made up of civilian noncombatants, Ukrainians and other European immigrants from the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Seasonal camps at Banff and Castle Mountain put more than 600 internees to work developing Canada's first national park.

COACHES MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

Elk Point Community Services is assisting the Alberta Sport Council in recognizing the contributions of coaches who have been an inspiration in our community.

Submit the name of the coach you feel deserves to be recognized to Community Services. From all the nominations received, ten Elk Point coaches will be selected to receive the "Coaches Make The Difference Recogniton Award." Of these ten, one coach's name will then be entered in an Alberta-wide draw for $1000. If our nominated coach wins the Alberta draw, the grant will be allocated at their discretion to one or more athletic groups within our community. Last year's winner was Sid Scharger from Wainwright.

So give some thought to whom you feel would be deserving of the "Coaches Make The Difference Recognition Award." Then submit their name, and reasons why you think they should win, to Community Services. Phone 724-3800 for more information.

Students learn about soil conservation

Recently at the F.G.Miller Jr. - Sr. High School, Miss Boyko's Grade 9 science classes and Mr. O'Neill's Grade 8 Agriculture class had the opportunity to hear four guest speakers. Three of the guest speakers were applicants from the Science Fair. Carrie Baumgardner spoke on soil conservation and demonstrated the importance of leaving stubble on farmers' fields. Paul Erickson also spoke about soil conservation and demonstrated the importance of shelter belts and strip farming versus leaving the farm fields black. Judy Kim spoke on solid wastes and provided interesting facts on how much we contribute to the landfill problem. Finally, Mrs. Baumgardner, a resident of the community, spoke to the class on many topics, including the economics of farming, biogenetics, the food crisis, pesticides, insecticides and many, many more issues related to farming and soil conservation. These topics are part of the Grade 9 curriculum yet it is important for all members of the community to be aware of the soil crisis and other environmental issues. Thus, keep this in mind during Soil Conservation Week, which starts on April 19. Soil conservation is an important issue for all of us.
